

January 29, 2007 - Byte and Switch

Promark Sells QStar Software

Mary Esther, Fla. -- QStar Technologies, Inc., a global leader in compliance, archiving and data protection solutions, today announces that Promark Technology, a premier Value Added Distributor focusing on Data Storage and Document Imaging will be offering the QStar product as part of its line card starting immediately. The agreement will expand the potential market for QStar archive management software and appliance and will enhance the archiving solutions currently available through Promark Technologies.

Promark offers a full range of storage management technologies and solutions from well-established manufacturers. The company's primary install base is comprised of customers who implement digital imaging and archiving solutions into vertical markets such as medical imaging, video archive and other content management markets.

Promark is constantly looking to provide more comprehensive solutions for its partners by embracing leading storage offerings. As the need to manage and archive large amounts of data continues to increase, Promark has made the decision to partner with QStar to further enhance its offerings in order to provide its customers with complete archiving solutions encompassing hardware and software.

"We wanted to partner with a corporation that shares in our overall dedication to excellence in providing data storage solutions to our customers," said Dale Foster, CEO of Promark. "We were very impressed with the ease of the integration with the QStar product and the breadth of flexibility. By selecting to partner with QStar I'm confident that we can take our customers to the next level of storage expertise."

Todd Deveney, Vice President of Sales for QStar states, "Promark is considered to be a leading and well respected Value Added Distributor of content management and storage products and services and we are very pleased to be working with their organization. Promark has a strong presence in the storage solutions market which compliments QStar's product line and business objectives. The partnership between the two companies will enhance the presents of QStar in North America and increase the market opportunities for our solution offerings."

Promark will offer the entire QStar Software line, including Master, HSM, Data Director, Network Migrator, MultiStor, and Simulated Disk and Tape Jukebox. All products are available for Windows, UNIX and Linux operating systems. In addition Promark will also have access to SntryStr, the QStar archiving appliance.